East Asia assembles EK lithium battery pack

Overview

Will Thailand's first EV battery production plant boost EV industry?

Under joint efforts, venture expected to give impetus to industry in SE Asia
Thailand's first domestic electric vehicle battery pack production plant went into operation on Thursday. The plant, run jointly by Chinese battery cell manufacturer Gotion High-tech and Thai company Nuovo Plus, is expected to give Southeast Asia's EV industry a boost.

Can EV batteries be reused in Thailand?

The application of battery energy storage systems in Thailand is in its infancy, and there is no official plan and target by the government with regard to battery reuse at present. Meanwhile, EV battery production is growing in Thailand.

Can South-East Asia lead the global battery supply chain?

“The South-East Asian region has the potential to link into the accelerating global battery supply chain, with Indonesia set to participate heavily in the upstream sector, supplying the likes of Thailand and other significant players in the EV production landscape with much needed Li-ion battery cells.

Are used EV batteries available in ASEAN?

This report has provided future projections of available used EV batteries in ASEAN. Its magnitude is compared with the estimated need for stationary use for variable renewable energy sources. The report has also provided policy implications for ASEAN countries towards facilitating the reuse of batteries from EVs.

Does Southeast Asia have a strong EV supply chain?

Robust supply chain The Southeast Asian country has set its sights on fostering the growth of its domestic EV industry and establishing a robust supply chain for the production of EV batteries.

Does South-East Asia offer a lithium-ion EV diversification strategy?

Fitch Solutions Inc, in a report yesterday, said the South-East Asian region offers the automotive industry a diversification strategy for lithium-ion (Li-ion) batteries intended for EVs going forward.
