Overview

Can battery companies expand overseas?

However, as the US and Europe introduce related entry policies, battery companies are facing numerous international regulatory and legal challenges, making overseas expansion much more difficult.

Are Chinese battery companies going global?

Since last year, leading Chinese battery companies such as CATL, Gotion High-Tech, EVE Energy, Envision AESC, Farasis Energy, and REPT have accelerated their steps to "go global."

Are Chinese battery makers building overseas factories?

Chinese battery maker Gotion showcases its battery cells at the 2023 China International Energy Storage and Lithium Battery Technology Exhibition in Shanghai in July. [Photo/VCG] In response to growing demand and stricter policy restrictions, Chinese battery makers are ramping up efforts to construct overseas factories.

Are lithium battery companies expanding overseas?

In light of global market uncertainties, lithium battery companies are also beginning to seek diversified overseas expansion paths. CATL adopts a dual approach of "light and heavy assets" to actively expand overseas. CATL has built and is planning or constructing a total of eight factories overseas.

Does China's battery industry face challenges?

Wang also noted that Chinese battery companies face challenges from European and American policies like the Inflation Reduction Act and EU Batteries Regulation when venturing into overseas markets. CATL, China's largest battery maker, has two overseas factories: one operating in Germany and the other under construction in Hungary.

Will China be the largest battery factory in Europe in 2025?

It will be the largest battery factory in Europe when production begins in 2025. According to data from the Ministry of Industry and Information Technology, in the first half of this year, China's lithium battery product exports increased by 69 percent year-on-year, with a predominant focus on power batteries.
