Overview

Are Huawei & SAIC planning a new energy vehicle production base?

According to the reports, Huawei and SAIC are now penning agreements with the Lingang New Area to create a new line of energy vehicles (EV) and battery plants to power them. The aim of this agreement with the Lingang in Shanghai's free trade zone is to build the "Shangjie High-end Intelligent New Energy Vehicle Production Base".

Why is Huawei launching a smart automotive solution business unit?

To enable this seismic shift in transportation, Huawei launched its Intelligent Automotive Solution business unit in May 2019. We invest about US$1 billion annually in research and development related to autonomous driving technologies. Autonomous vehicles will produce broad social benefits:

Does Huawei have a relationship with EV manufacturers?

They all have underlying Huawei solutions. Huawei's relationship with EV manufacturers is vast: its solutions have been implemented in 10 models, and four vehicle manufacturers have a deep integration with their systems.

Does Huawei support EV charging in China?

But beyond the manufacturers who choose to install its solutions in their vehicles, Huawei solutions still benefit every EV in China. This is thanks to its extensive charging network installed across the country.

Does Huawei have a 3,000-kilometre range and 5-minute charging capacity?

While Huawei's assertions of a 3,000-kilometre range and five-minute charging have attracted significant attention, experts caution that such figures remain theoretical and would necessitate charging infrastructure that is currently not commercially available.

Why is Huawei pursuing solid-state battery research?

Huawei's engagement in solid-state battery research reflects a wider trend among Chinese technology and automotive companies. Although Huawei does not manufacture power batteries directly, its growing interest in upstream battery materials is notable.
