Will Malta's new energy storage system revolutionize grid-scale energy storage?

Malta's new energy storage solution has the potential to revolutionize the future of grid-scale energy storage. The system can draw electricity from the grid in times of plenty and store it for hours or days, waiting until a time of high demand before releasing the power back to the grid.

What is Malta's energy storage system?

Malta's grid-scale, long-duration energy storage system helps governments, utilities, and grid operators transition to low-cost, carbon free renewable energy while enhancing energy security. Storing electricity for eight hours to eight days or longer, the solution reduces CO<sub>2</sub> emissions and dependence on natural gas.

Is Malta the first company to commercialize a thermoelectric energy storage system?

Christian Bruch, President and CEO of Siemens Energy, said, "Malta's innovative thermoelectric energy storage system offers a flexible, cost-effective and scalable solution for the storage of energy over long periods of time. With our support, Malta is well positioned to be the first company to commercialize such a solution globally.

What is the Malta PHES energy storage system?

The Malta PHES energy storage system is built upon well-established principles in thermodynamics and uses conventional components that have been present in power plants for hundreds of years. Electricity from the grid is used to heat molten salt and cool a chilled liquid. In these forms, energy can be efficiently stored for long durations.

Does Malta have a long-duration energy storage solution?

Malta has developed a long-duration energy storage solution that leverages steam-based heat pump technology to provide a cost-efficient, flexible, and integration-ready option for utility and industrial clients.

Why should you invest in Malta's new energy storage solution?

A vital part of Malta's new energy storage solution is heat transfer technology supplied by Alfa Laval. As both an investor and a partner in the project, Alfa Laval lends more than expertise and financial backing.
