Overview

Are double-glass PV modules durable?

Double-glass PV modules are emerging as a technology which can deliver excellent performance and excellent durability at a competitive cost. In this paper a glass-glass module technology that uses liquid silicone encapsulation is described. The combination of the glass-glass structure and silicone is shown to lead to exceptional durability.

What is a double glass c-Si PV module?

Recently several double-glass (also called glass-glass or dual-glass modules) c-Si PV modules have been launched on the market, many of them by major PV manufacturers. These modules use a sheet of tempered glass at the rear of the module instead of the conventional polymer-based backsheet. There are several reasons why this structure is appealing.

What is the best double-glass module?

When it comes to double-glass, Trina Solar's double-glass module is the most sought after product in the market. It was one of the first companies to promote and commercialize double-glass modules, and it has won industry-wide recognition for its high quality.

Are early PV modules encapsulated with silicone?

Photovoltaics International Early PV modules were often encapsulated with silicone, and have demonstrated outstanding stability in the field, with degradation rates over 20 to 30 years that are much lower than the typical degradation rates for EVA-encapsulated modules [3-5].

What encapsulant materials can be used for PV modules?

Various encapsulant materials can be considered. Polyvinyl butyral (PVB) has been used for a long time for glass-glass PV modules, particularly for thin-film modules.

How thick is a PV module?

The total thickness of module is between 4.5-5mm. Dual glass solution is becoming nowadays the trend for future PV industry, with advantage of better mechanical strength and better weathering performance due to the fact the back sheet is made of a similar inorganic glass as that of front sheet.
